One of the only books discussing new advances in venous ulcer therapy, Venous Ulcers provides a comprehensive look at the molecular biology and pathophysiology of venous ulcers. It discusses the many new treatments currently being used that offer non-invasive treatment options to patients with venous ulcerations. Leg ulcers are defined as a discontinuity of the epithelial surface; a local defect or excavation of the surface of the skin. Venous ulceration tends to take a number of months to heal followed by frequent relapse to further episodes. This work discusses the newest tools of patient investigation that have emerged in recent years that help to shorten patient recovery times and provide less invasive treatments.

Wound Care Essentials Lippincott Williams & Wilkins

This open access book aims to provide a comprehensive but practical overview of the knowledge required for the assessment and management of the older adult with or at risk of fragility fracture. It considers this from the perspectives of all of the settings in which this group of patients receive nursing care. Globally, a fragility fracture is estimated to occur every 3 seconds. This amounts to 25 000 fractures per day or 9 million per year. The financial costs are reported to be: 32 billion EUR per year in Europe and 20 billion USD in the United States. As the population of China ages, the cost of hip fracture care there is likely to reach 1.25 billion USD by 2020 and 265 billion by 2050 (International Osteoporosis Foundation 2016). Consequently, the need for nursing for patients with fragility fracture across the world is immense. Fragility fracture is one of the foremost challenges for health care providers, and the impact of each one of those expected 9 million hip fractures is significant pain, disability, reduced quality of life, loss of independence and decreased life expectancy. There is a need for coordinated, multi-disciplinary models of care for secondary fracture prevention based on the increasing evidence that such models make a difference. There is also a need to promote and facilitate high quality, evidence-based effective care to those who suffer a fragility fracture with a focus on the best outcomes for recovery, rehabilitation and secondary prevention of further fracture. The care community has to understand better the experience of fragility fracture from the perspective of the patient so that direct improvements in care can be based on the perspectives of the users. This book supports these needs by providing a comprehensive approach to nursing practice in fragility fracture care.

Quick Reference to Wound Care Academic Press Abstract The aim of the project is to improve the process and delivery of care with established and accepted standards by implementing evidence-based change. The plan is to create a HAPI prevention plan with the main expected outcome to reduce the HAPI occurrences on the unit to zero by July 30, 2018. This will be accomplished by increasing awareness among nursing staff members through education and diligent monitoring of prevention practices and treatments. The education portion of the plan will include reviewing basic pressure injury education and HAPI prevention and management in the form of visual aids provided by the WOCN and a standard operating procedure, also known as a standard work, that will be used as a guide to HAPI prevention on the unit. A self-evaluation tool will also be used to allow nursing staff to rate their understanding prior to and after in-services of the information are provided. The monitoring portion of the plan includes the creation of monitoring tools to properly track compliance of the interventions, such as a Turning Wheel to monitor repositioning and chart reviews to monitor documentation and use of skin care prevention products. The expected objectives include (1) increased awareness of the importance of HAPI prevention, (2) a clear understanding of HAPI prevention methods, and (3) increased confidence in HAPI education and management. The organization serves 9 million enrolled Veterans and their families every year. While mental health is a strong area of focus where suicide, homelessness, and trauma exceed the national rate of the general population, this patient population that consists of primarily men ages 60+ also suffer from multiple co-morbidities, such as congestive heart failure, diabetes, pulmonary issues, and cancer. Therefore, this population is at risk for developing health issues that can have a significant impact on patients' lives and hinder the ability of the healthcare clinician to provide high quality care (JCAHO, 2016). Positive outcomes include an 80% completion rate of the turning wheels and documentation as well. There has been a noticeable increase in the use of skincare prevention products. Also, the HAPI occurrence rate has been at zero since the implementation of the project, which is due to increased staff awareness and support and collaboration between the WOCN, unit skin champions, and management. Concurrently, it has been reported by multiple staff members that team morale is increased as goals are being achieved due to the strong teamwork that this project has created for staff to prevent HAPI occurrences on the unit. There was an 80% completion rate of the turning wheels and documentation as well. References Joint Commission (2016). Preventing pressure injuries. Retrieved from <https://www.jointcommi>
