Standards of Learning (SOL) tests are divided into reporting categories (RCs) that represent the assessed content or skills. Specific reporting categories for each test included on a student's official SOL score report can be found below by matching the test level and test name on the two documents.

Letters under a particular Standard of Learning are sometimes coded to different reporting categories. For example, World Geography Standard of Learning WG.3b, which deals with regional landscapes, is assigned to the reporting category “ Physical and Regional Geography ” in the World Geography Standards of Learning test.
